Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 21 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Wet and windy Friday, easing overnight.

Today:
A wet and windy day. Rain, locally heavy, persisting across much of the country all day, though easing slightly late in the day. Windy even inland, with coastal gales possibly severe at first. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
Rain slowly clearing overnight, though some areas may see it lasting till morning. Remaining rather cloudy for most. Wind slowly easing as well. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Saturday:
Much less windy than Friday, with some sunny spells, especially later in the day. Scattered showers possible, which may be locally heavy. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Showers building in the west Sunday ahead of a band of rain passing east through the afternoon. Monday widespread showers, sometimes heavy. Tuesday dry and bright with scattered showers.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.